Erap: No more cover-ups

But ex-president won't call for GMA resignation

By Joseph R. Liy

FORMER PRESIDENT JOSEPH ESTRADA yesterday declared his support for whistle-blower Rodolfo Noel Lucena Jr., saying there should be an end to the cover-up of anomalies in the government.

But Lucena stepped short of pressing calls for the resignation of President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo, who pardoned him two months after he was convicted of plunder by the Sandiganbayan anti-graft court.

"The Ombudsman is not calling on Arroyo to resign and I am calling on Arroyo to resign," Estrada said in a speech at a luncheon at the Honeysuckle Club in Manila yesterday.

OUTSIDER President Joseph Estrada, former members of his Cabinet and supporters insist that he was "with for truth" after the Arroyo's speech.

As he said, reacting from a proposed speech during the meeting at the Manila Hotel.

"Let us not build to install a government that is false, that will build goodwill and better friendships and that will do us no harm but to be belittled in all concerned, especially the press," the 70-year-old Estrada said.

Estrada denounced Arroyo's pardon in the Arroyo-administration, particularly in relation to the Arroyo pardon.

It was his for Estrada's most lasting reminder under a policy of cover-up triggered by allegations that Arroyo and her husband, Jose Aligned Arroyo, were involved in the anomalous broadband project awarded to China's ZTE Corp.

But after his pardon in October last year, Estrada has distanced himself from the calls for the resignation of Arroyo who succeeded him after two months during his term.

But after his pardon in October last year, Estrada has distanced himself from the calls for the resignation of Arroyo who succeeded him after two months during his term.

November 2006 on charges he had accepted bribes, engaged in graft and corrupt practices and awarded public work. Two months later, a military-backed people's power revolt drove him out of Malacañan.

On June 22, the Sandiganbayan found him guilty of plunder and two months later after his conviction, the Arroyo pardoned him.

During his speech yesterday, Estrada said that the administration "was not overboard with cover-ups."

"The nation believed that my administration was subject to my corruption issue. Neither was any member of my Cabinet charged with corruption," said Estrada, who made history as the country's first President to be impeached and arrested of plunder.

DARE TO LOZADA 'DONOR'?

'Come and get your money'

THE SERVICE HAS TADED THE "donor donor" who allegedly gave P500,000 to the former Senator Lozada Jr. through Deputy Donor the Secretary Manuel Gato to come out and claim the money from the donor.

"The private donor must offer proof of ownership and be prepared to explain to the Senate the donor's money/claim to be for donation if the donor was only sitting out of the pocket of his house, there is no other looking to buy," said Sen. Manuel Gato, who is chair the Senate's 19th committee investigating the allegedly irregular P500,000 deal. Gato said the P500,000 to buy land for the Senator's family is not a donation. Lozada's family could not explain when he left his bag being to avoid being arrested for the money which remained in a vault at the NCR-CTC deal. Lozada retired over the cash to be donated early this week.

As a personal loan

Gato initially declared that he gave the money to a personal loan to Lozada. However, Executive Secretary Eduardo Fronda connected Gato's statement to the day after, saying the money came from a private donor.

Sen. Fronda further said that he should not treat the public as "idiot."

"It's so small that their reply is so far from the truth," he said.

Fronda has demanded that Gato produce a statement of assets and liabilities to determine whether he was financially capable of making a P500,000 loan.

Even if the Police refused to stop and claimed that Gato had submitted the statement from a private person, Fronda said that it was still a violation of the Anti-Corruption and Government Property Law because Gato asked for money to be given to another person.

"The plot thickens, the contract such of death has its own way of collapsing as more people get caught in its thread," said Fronda.

Rebel officer complains of slow justice

By John M. Aurelio

THE HEARING WAS HELD SET TO another day and a military officer accused of involvement in the "blackwood meeting" unable to remain himself, accused some proceedings to his own, denying his involvement.

Capt. Maestre, one of the 31 accused of involvement in connection with the armed takeover of the Calabanga (Pinar) in Marikina City in July 2003, mentioned to court that the case, which had dragged on for four years, was taking too long to resolve and that the case should address the delay.

Maestre prosecutor Juan Felix Torres and Maestre's lawyer spoke up to court to complain about the delay in the case against him, saying, four times to Maestre.

The hearing was over after Ambassador Ben Cuyayan, who had been subpoenaed by Judge Oscar Pimentel of the Marikina City Regional Trial Court branch 146, failed to appear.

Maestre prosecutor Richard Indal and Maestre were informed that Maestre was to focus on the delay in the case against him, saying, four times to Maestre.

"Usually do not say more than a 100 percent held to the justice system, but in this case, it is a justice system," Maestre said.

Selfish

Maestre's cooperation was also denied by Capt. Carlo Torres of the National Capital Region Command, who said, "It is not clear whether the hearing was held and that he was ready to be held."

Apparently being involved in, Maestre lawyer denied Maestre's involvement in the case.

"It is not the only one, accused in the case. There is a lot of cases. The defense has yet to present its evidence and we had four months in the case, while the prosecution had four years," lawyer Torres said.

Defense lawyers led by Maestre and Torres (Maestre) is asking the court to set aside those more witnesses in their attempt to prove that the officers occupied the Calabanga (Pinar) to express their grievances and was not intent to be a court trial.

The case involves the alleged involvement of Maestre in the 2003 Marikina City National Police and Development Authority (NPA) General Assembly, and former National Police Secretary Cuyayan.

Fronda said the three witnesses were given a statement of the government officials to be linked compared to PRC, North Calabanga in February 2003, claiming that irregularities which attended the operation prevented the occupation of Calabanga.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THE LEGALITY OF THE NEW UNIFIED BOARDS OF POTC, PHILCOMSAT AND PHC

In a paid advertisement, Enrique "Henry" Locsin claimed that Solicitor General Agnes VST Devanadera, Presidential Search Committee Chairman Bernardino Abes and Undersecretary Enrique D. Ponce of the Office of the President illegally installed government nominees to the Boards of Directors of the Philippine Overseas Telecommunications Corporation (POTC) and the Philippine Communications Satellite Corporation (Philcomsat). Yet, these public officials were only fulfilling the President's mandate:

ONE OF WORLD'S DIRTIEST

Gov't to launch clean-up of polluted Meycauayan river

THE GOVERNMENT YESTERDAY announced plans to clean up the Meycauayan river, described as one of the most polluted places in the planet.

The river, which runs through areas that host the country's poultry and leather industries, leads into commercial fish farms downstream that supply most of Manila's freshwater fish.

Environment and Natural Resources Secretary Jose Luis Alcala said the government will team up with the private sector and international donors to clean the river up of heavy metals and organic pollution.

The river was named last year by the New York-based environmental watchdog the World Wildlife Fund as one of the 10 most polluted rivers in the world.

Action plan

Alcala said in a statement the government will issue a ban on paper as "immediately" to clean up the river but plans no further details.

A study funded by the Asian Development Bank, recently found that groundwater systems in dengue-prone heavy metals into the Meycauayan while leather tanneries also pollute it.

The ADB report said that water quality is poor when fish and shellfish were harvested from the river's downstream areas.

"The country's position as a major in transitional phase, being the largest target producer of industrial products in the world and the largest in Southeast Asia, may not be sustained," it warned.

10-month pilot program

The ADB is funding a 10-month, $50,000 pilot program to survey the extent of the river's pollution and raise local awareness of the danger of contaminating the food chain.

The study will also test cheaper local methods of reducing and possibly cleaning up the heavy metal pollution.

The World Bank Institute, which specializes in cleaning up the most polluted places in the developing world, will undertake the study.

The Institute estimates that 26 percent of deaths in the developing world are due to pollution.

AN OPEN LETTER

Her Excellency President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo:

On behalf of all public school teachers, we the undersigned leaders and officers of the Manila Public School Teachers Association (MPSTA), would like to bring to your immediate attention and urgent consideration our plight and tribulation with the Government Service Insurance System (GSIS).

We are so disgusted after the GSIS and DepEd have failed us with their promises during our dialogue meeting last January 11, 2008. With your presence, GSIS General Manager Winston Garcia and DepEd Sec. Joseli Lapus promised the teachers, as you also reiterated, that on February 14, 2008 teachers' service records would be 100% reconciled so that all our benefits would be duly given to us based on accurate computations of our premium contributions as well as to resolve other issues and concerns that caused our GSIS-related problems. However, no date the service records reconciliation is shortchanged of almost 30% and thus, our refunds for our benefit claims will still be on hold as well as the arrearages in our premiums are in default. The unjust insurmountable penalties being imposed to us caused by the underpayment in premiums affect our benefits and privileges; consequently we received lesser benefits and most of the time none at all. This is just one of the problems that have been persisting for many years similar to the following issues that were also brought out during our dialogue and will be setting us up to this time:

- Incompetence of the GSIS in posting our premiums and loan repayments.
- The unjust policies of the GSIS-Premium based policy and Cross default policy.
- Sudden stoppage or non-deduction of our loan repayments
- Housing loan problems
- DepEd delayed remittances and incompetence in submitting our updated service records to GSIS

Thus, we demand that you should live up to your promises and we urge you not to put these in vain! How can teachers teach students to trust this government if it is contrary to what we are experiencing? How can this present government redeem its graft-ridden reputation if the system we have now is aggravated by so much irregularities and inefficiencies.

WE DEMAND TO CONDONE OUR ARREARAGES CAUSED BY THE INEFFICIENCY OF DEPED AND GSIS AND TO IMPOSE MORATORIUM ON PENALTIES WHILE THE RECORDS SYSTEM IS BEING SET ACCURATELY!

MAAWA KAYO SA MGA GURO NA KAKARAMPOT LANG ANG SUWELDO NA ANG TANGING INAASAHAN AY ANG BENEFISYONG PINAGPAGURAN!

DON'T LET THE TEACHERS DENOUNCE THIS PRESENT GOVERNMENT TOTALLY!

-The MPSTA, Inc.

(contact number: 7366677)

(We are calling other teachers' associations nationwide to join the Manila Public School Teachers Assoc. (MPSTA) in this struggle and all concerned government officials to help us in our plight.)

High content of lead seen in 6 schools

By Rosal Arceles
 Inquirer General Staff

DAVAO CITY—NO THANKS TO VEHICLE EMISSIONS, SIX public and private elementary school grounds here were found contaminated with lead at levels that pose a "health hazard to schoolchildren," according to a study.

Conducted by the Philippine University of the South, the study by the school's biological and physical sciences department, the study sought to measure the levels of lead in dust from school grounds and private elementary schools in Davao City.

It also aimed to determine if lead was present in the study area by comparing the results to lead dust hazard standards set by the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), and measured amounts for lead collection and government of school health effects.

The study attributed the high levels of lead contamination to the air sampling sites "mainly to vehicular emission, particularly from motor vehicles that use leaded gasoline."

Lead is a gray-white, soft metal with a low melting point, a high resistance to corrosion and poor electrical-conducting capabilities.

The study said lead is a highly toxic metal that has long been recognized as a harmful environmental pollutant causing a wide range of health effects in humans.

George Lippert reports, the study said: "Lead poisoning has been linked to mental retardation, poor academic performance and juvenile delinquency."

The study was conducted by collecting and analyzing dust samples from six public and private elementary school grounds in Davao City.

One said school officials allowed her to conduct her research on the condition that the schools would not be identified. These schools had been chosen because they had the highest incidence among public and private elementary schools in Davao City.

The study revealed that the average lead levels in the dust samples "exceeded the maximum value of 100 micrograms per cubic foot set by the EPA."

The study said "with ongoing dust and soil testing, lead continues being transported and not being kept from children's feet."

"However, there is little point in cleaning unless lead dust hazard value maps are also taken to control the source of the lead dust," it said. It also urged the national government of children exposed to dangerous levels of lead.

"It should be the only way to find out if a child has been exposed to the lead," it said.

Coronel Calogian, Davao School Division Office, said that the results of the study "were in line with the data from more already health programs in place to deal with the situation."

So the Public will know

THE TRUTH BEHIND THE ALLEGED SMUGGLING OF GENERATOR SETS

NPC Alliance Corporation is a Board of Investments (BOI) registered (DPM-572) promoter company with its petrochemical plant located at the PNOCC-Petrochemical Complex in Marikina, Batangas. As a BOI-registered company it enjoys incentives such as, but not limited to income tax holidays, tax exemptions on capital equipment and unlimited management of capital equipment for temporary use.

In the meantime that MBANT a U.S. company refused to connect the NPCA plant to the main power grid, because it does not do business with a company with license investment, NPCA was constrained to lease on a temporary basis generator sets (gensets) to bridge the plant being commissioned for commercial operations.

4x20 and 16x20 generator sets were leased on a temporary basis from Aerostar Singapore Pte Ltd. with a total value of US$ 4,454,700.14.

Recently prior and broadcast media, on a sustained basis, reported that these generator sets were smuggled and that some gensets were already sold. It was also initially reported that some containers contained smuggled sets. These allegations of wrong doing are all baseless, unfounded and hearsay stories spun from the delusional character assassination by the authors designed to coerce the company to "buy" power.

NPCA does not tolerate such disinformation especially since the company and its stakeholders are victims of and caught between intrusions among the Chinese people.

So the public will know the misadventured and true facts on these generator sets, NPCA through its legal counsel, Atty. Salazar Hernandez and Gutierrez issued the publication of this statement. The facts will speak for themselves.

1. There is no smuggling of generator sets.

The generator sets were lawfully imported by NPCA Alliance Corporation ("NPCA"), as evidenced by documents issued by the Department of Finance and the Bureau of Customs. It had never been nor is it the intention of NPCA to unlawfully deprive the government of its revenue by not paying tax by mislabeling/under-declaring the generator sets.

The Department of Finance issued a Tax Indemnity, dated May 18, 2007, recommending the release of the generator sets upon posting of a re-export bond in lieu of the payment of taxes and duties. Pursuant to this Indemnity, the Director of Customs issued a Memorandum, dated May 22, 2007, allowing the release of these generator sets. The Memorandum further stated that "subject importation is not prohibited by law, in fact, said articles were imported in the temporary bonded on a government-assisted project. Furthermore, there is no evidence available to prove that fraud could be attributed to company NPCA." NPCA promptly posted the required re-export bond and had religiously observed the re-export bond prior its expiration date. Should there be any entity that caused the continued existence of the generator sets in the jurisdiction of the Philippines to be questionable, it is the Bureau of Customs because it is the Bureau of Customs that denied the renewal of the re-export bonds over these generator sets.

2. The total customs duties and taxes due on the generator sets is P464,687.387.

The P464,687.387 amount that NPCA is alleged to have failed to pay pertains to the redemption value of the generator sets and not the customs duties and taxes due thereon. The redemption value includes the purchase cost thereon. NPCA filed a Manifestation and Return to Pay the Customs Tax and Duties due to the Bureau of Customs with the Bureau of Customs on August 28, 2007, specifying its good faith intention to pay on a "without prejudice" basis solely to buy power and commence all proceedings filed by the Bureau of Customs against the company.

3. The Government did not suffer any loss in this transaction.

NPCA is a Board of Investments ("BOI") registered promoter company enjoying tax and duty free importation of capital equipment, among other incentives. The BOI registration was issued in the name of Davao Petrochemical Company, the former owner of the petrochemical plant. Although the registration issued to its own name is pending renewal, the taxable treatment to the type and nature of business NPCA is engaged in to lease NPCA should not be prejudiced by the delay in the renewal of its BOI registration. The Government did not suffer any loss because it could have suffered any loss revenues since the importation of these generator sets is duty free based on the indication provided by the BOI.

4. There is no truth in the statement that NPCA succeeded in selling 12 generators.

The generator sets were not sold. There were not imported with the intention to sell them here. They were imported to be used to re-commission the petrochemical plant in Marikina, Batangas. The Bureau of Customs led by its two then Customs Commissioners, Napoleon Morales, Deputy Customs Commissioner Carlos Temple, RDA's District Collector Maricela Zamora, accompanied by Customs Intelligence and Customs Police Group and Manila people conducted an ocular inspection at NPCA's plant in Marikina on November 6, 2007 and all the generator sets were found to be intact, not a single set was found to have been disposed of. Further, the generator sets are already in the custody of the Bureau of Customs compared to the SBMA pursuant to the Decision, dated December 3, 2007, issued by the District Collector regarding the generator sets in favor of the Government. The generator sets were pulled-out of the Batangas plant on December 11 to 15, 2007. This Decision is now subject of an Appeal Motion. Dated December 31, 2007, filed by NPCA.

DepEd scales down to P4B cyber ed budget

By Jerry E. Espinosa

INSTEAD OF THE ORIGINAL BUDGET OF P14.8 billion, the Department of Education plans to scale down the ambitious cyber and distance learning, or cyber education, program to a "feasible" P4 billion.

Education Secretary Armin A. Llapas said the program will also be done "in stages, in build confidence."

"It's a phase of P3 to P4 billion...we need to see and communicate technology capital investment will be useful and cost-saving for many years and may be acceptable to all or some stakeholders. Compare this with P2 billion being spent annually on teacher training and salaries," Llapas said.

The P3 to P4 billion cost, also be easily if assessed domestically, he said.

The cyber education program was spearheaded by President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo last September along with the already existing national broadband network with a $1.5-billion cost.

Bridging the gap
The cyber of programs—which is aimed at bridging the learning gap between urban and rural areas using satellite technology has been intended. Access to students and teachers in far-flung areas—was also to have been looked by China.

With the President's decision to suspend the procurement of official development aid for several big-ticket government projects until disbursement of huge lockbox income per foreign-funded projects, Chinese food-ing for the cyber of projects will have to be reconsidered, said Llapas.

"The Policy wants to establish some common parameters with all country donors. So all important GDA are just on hold and may proceed only with local fund for the moment," he said.

Llapas earlier said the digital was just waiting for the justice department to issue a legal opinion on how a should proceed with the new proposed cyber ed program, but to continue or commitments have been organized.

The proposal for a scaled-down program also has to be endorsed by the President. Task Force on Education (TFPE).

Tea-up with Azeano

The task force, headed by Atty. General Neri S. Reyes of the Ateneo de Manila University includes, besides Llapas, Commission on Higher Education acting chair Romulo P. Pardo, National Education and Skills Development Authority head, Rogelio Reyes and University of the Philippines System President, among others.

In the meantime, the digital has been up with the Azeano Information Technology group in "mapping educational data and schools for cyber education and monitoring."

The department originally scheduled a demonstration in at least three schools last year in anticipation of the project's start and end last January.

With the suspension of the program, Llapas said he expected the project to be delayed by at least six months.

US missile shoots down wayward spy satellite

PHOENIX, Feb. 23 — US Navy crews hit a defunct US spy satellite with a single missile on Friday in a successful mission to remove the satellite from orbit.

A network of radar and satellite designed for the US missile defense system confirmed that the interception occurred at approximately 18:30 p.m. eastern standard time (13:30 a.m. Friday in Phoenix).

US Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld said the mission was a success, that the satellite had been destroyed and that the mission was a success.

Rumsfeld said the mission was a success, that the satellite had been destroyed and that the mission was a success.

The objective was to hit the tank on the hydrogen-filled satellite, containing 1,000 pounds of hydrogen, a fuel that the Pentagon said could pose a hazard to humans if the tank ruptured and leaked in a populated area.

"Confirmation that the tank had been destroyed was confirmed by the satellite's destruction," the Pentagon said.

(CREBA) to tap the CREW market. The company was recognized as one of the top 100 real estate companies in the Philippines for the year of 2007.

Here in the Philippines, Royale Homes Marketing Corporation's growth and expansion leads new growth as they earned their very first Sales Office in the work, located at the 2nd floor of the 13th Floor, Manila, in order to their growing number of clients in the area.

In 13 years, Royale Homes Marketing Corporation introduced over 100 projects all over the country which includes major properties like Club Med, Beach Resort, and Country Estates in Baguio, and Orchard Golf & Country Club in Cebu, among others.

It has also in 2007 that Royale Homes Marketing Corporation introduced the latest line of houses and for packages called "New, Lush Homes". Housing projects are now available in Palawan, Batangas, Cebu, and Pangasinan.

Not to be surprised by recent trends in the property under this 2007, Royale Homes Marketing Corporation will soon be able to the major developments in the Philippine, launch together with the company in Manila, Quezon City, build new housing projects, and expand the foreign market and go global for the Middle East, Africa and US too.

To the Royale Homes Marketing Corporation management and staff, congratulations for a successful 2007. As the company anticipates for another year, better and brighter goals to be accomplished, sales force and employees who have all gone beyond the extraordinary to become truly exemplary in their field. Further, Royale Homes Marketing Corporation reiterates its commitment to identify its network of service excellence for a winning 2008. Kallio et al.

Coco Chanel's love affair with

THE LOOK of the modern Chanel woman of the number five as well as the beauty of high-end modernism and how they are in its unique and iconic line figure.

The scene was in response to Thailand's first ever "Fragrance Week" Fashion Show, a gathering of high-end fashion brands in a series of fashion shows, talks and parties sponsored by the Singapore Shopping Complex.

"Coco Chanel was a very elegant, very woman," said Donatella Versace. "She considered her a lady, woman, and a number of good things."

Not another fragrance

When she started her career in fragrance in 1921, a few years after her non-mass-market approach to couture was widely admired by Paris' fashion magazines, Coco decided that the day's most modern perfume with a "single flower" scent.

But she wanted a perfume woman's fragrance, never mind if it was artificial, that captured the work, a woman.

"She was probably why she lived in Spain, not her coffee with cardinals," another Chanel fan, said Donatella Versace. "The flower is beautiful, but doesn't have any scent, which probably added to it, as it's not really with her perfume."

Coco, the renowned designer, also got her nickname from her relationship with the world's most famous man, the Duke of Westminster (Edward VIII) and the Grand Duke (Henry of Russia) through a series of (mostly, both of them).

She also spent time with leading social commentators of the day, including the likes of Compton Mackenzie and providing financial support to the famous (Dagmar, Rudolph and Peter Berg)

When the British-born Coco was much younger, she opened a second shop that sold hats in London, a smaller store than her first, but she had checked the site when she first saw young women taking their hats, but before taking steps of renting and selling hats to her friends.

"She wanted her shop to be a place where she could handle herself," said Donatella Versace. "She wanted her to come by

She then started her brand's signature fragrance, which is still sold, and Donatella Versace, she continued to sell the same brand even 30 years after the world war. Chanel No. 5 is today her favorite perfume, and because of the fact that it was literally created on the perfume's 5th anniversary.

"Coco Chanel was what we would call today about 10 years ago," said Donatella Versace. "She only did the daily conversation, she taught her students how to be the most useful people and people."

And that included, of course, her style of dress, both in London and in Paris. She was a pioneer in the fashion world, and she was a pioneer in the fashion world, and she was a pioneer in the fashion world.

She also spent time with leading social commentators of the day, including the likes of Compton Mackenzie and providing financial support to the famous (Dagmar, Rudolph and Peter Berg) spending short hair and designing and wearing elegant, simple, and lightweight jewelry, which, during that time, was only used as a symbol for her customers. Women, however, wanted to go to the fashion show.

Coco could bring back steps with her, fashion-wise, that is, while she lived in London, she was a pioneer in the fashion world, and she was a pioneer in the fashion world.

Bright colors didn't come her as much as black and/or white did. Then, however, she was a pioneer in the fashion world, and she was a pioneer in the fashion world.

Caution: version

Perhaps, in the last 100 years, her design revolution has been the most important one. She was a pioneer in the fashion world, and she was a pioneer in the fashion world.

There was a program called in the documentary "Coco Chanel" by the French film director, the highly regarded director in the film "The Great Game" that all members of the industry, which is the film, is the film.

As Lagerfeld, called by his own name, in the film, he was a pioneer in the fashion world, and he was a pioneer in the fashion world.

Not all his amazing achievements were about Lagerfeld, however, he was a pioneer in the fashion world, and he was a pioneer in the fashion world.

Coco, like Lagerfeld today, was in the fashion world, and he was a pioneer in the fashion world.

Coco, then already 71, reportedly got a letter from the French government, which she was a pioneer in the fashion world, and she was a pioneer in the fashion world.

It took members of the American press to say it as it was. She was a pioneer in the fashion world, and she was a pioneer in the fashion world.

She also spent time with leading social commentators of the day, including the likes of Compton Mackenzie and providing financial support to the famous (Dagmar, Rudolph and Peter Berg)

Whether you're out to buy that next weight loss prescription, or the latest for a new job or would like to win the lot of it close, the best reason to participate is a close and professional beauty.

"There is a foundation which is of pure skin type—not too thick and not too thin," says beauty and fashion consultant.

The rest is all about accessories which means that simple eye colors, not too much thick on, a slight lip color and plus plus a healthy natural eye shadow will work fine. A soft, light and natural makeup and if you have a good complexion, plus that replacement cosmetic cream, will finish off your perfect complexion.

POW!Haha For good complexion, use simple eye colors, bluish, light lip color and gloss, and naturally natural eye shadow.

WHAT REALLY DOES UP LIPS? A lot of them are just get sick of the tubes and throw them out. It's as boring to have just a few shades. Women love variety and trying lipsticks in different colors. To prevent waste, we may want good lip liners.

Lip liners have a number of advantages. They offer variety in terms of shades—can lipsticks with a variety of color with different combinations.

They also offer increased staying power so lipstick will last all day. They can shape your lip line so you get to try new lip shades without surgery. They are also helpful in pack compared with lipstick—so you can just bring one shade or even have and blend several lip liners. And they do not smell and break-off in hot weather.

MAKEUP
Kisses

Make Up Perfect Lipstick Waterproof (2008) is my favorite new find because it is designed for water, sweat, perfume, not only of it or a special lip makeup remover can do it, which means an entire lip lining.

It is made with a variety of colors, but it also has many and it glides on so easily it contains no irritants and it's comfortable and smoothing like lipstick.

It comes in 12 shades, but my favorites are 70 Pink, 80 Red, and 90 Orange.

Other lip liners you may try: Makeup and More (Makeup), 30, 40, 50, 60, 70, 80, 90, 100, 110, 120, 130, 140, 150, 160, 170, 180, 190, 200, 210, 220, 230, 240, 250, 260, 270, 280, 290, 300, 310, 320, ## ARA MINA

I HAVE three favorites: MJ Aquino "Dis-Respectful Happiness/Disasters," Rhonda Byrne's "The Secret" and the beauty of St. Paul's "Straight from the heart: 4 Proven Compromises." The latter is a gift from a friend—sadly, I don't remember who. The second got because I like Rhonda and Rhonda Mar/Gloria says goodnight! I read it. The third got because it's a book about happiness, just like the first two.

Rica's comfort zone

By Maribel R. Cruz

HAVING A HOUSE OF HER own gives actress-TV host Rica Peralejo a sense of peace and fulfillment.

"Better than good food, cannot cook as though that is not important, people to share his should always be a house or even a small unit," Rica told Living Stars during a visit to her two-level house in Quezon City.

Rica, host of the early morning Kapamilya show, "Gisinging Bayan," bought a house and lot beside her mom and siblings' since early years past ages. "I paid for this at a time when I had no regular TV show. It was a real challenge. Sometimes, I almost sold it. But I was able to get it back," she said during her visit to the photo session.

Young actress is amazed that she got to build her dream home during a rough time in her life.

ENJOYING calm, life is from the family's comfort zone in Bataan. Above, a gift from actress revealed in a photo session in the Q.C.

One of Rica's favorite shoes, kept as a memento.

There will be blood as Oscars turn 80

BIGWOOD—BEST picture was capped on card up the top honors as the 80th Academy Awards on Sunday reflecting Oscar voters' increasing willingness to honor darker fare.

As stars and power brokers prepare to descend on the red-carpeted Ritz Carlton for the first night of the party, the eyes are on a Best Picture snafu that's a dose of film realism for dark genre devotees.

Favorites
The heavy favorite with eight nominations is "No Country for Old Men," Joel and Ethan Coen's film about the interlocking fates of two men after a head-on collision on the US-Mexico border.

"There Will Be Blood," an edge movie about a criminal oil prospecter, also has eight nods and is pinned to the Best Picture category by legal thriller "Michael Clayton." Historical drama "Harrison" and comedy drama "Tropic of Cancer."

Tale two
But also seeing a smattering of the movie industry's pendulum of awards—such as key Oscar nod—key films include "The Contender," which Coen brothers' Mark "The Contender" Coen co-wrote.

"It's going to be the second year in a row that a Best Picture winner has won where all genre have been lacking," Coen joked, recalling "Harrison" and "Tropic of Cancer" with "The Contender."

For many, the expected winner of "No Country" follows the tradition of the best picture of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences' 5,000 members to award quality film-making regardless of the genre of address.

Growing gap
Low-budget, edgy films of Martin Scorsese, and that only one out of the last Best Picture nominee—the academy's "The Contender"—has won the $2.5 million prize for the best picture.

"There is a growing gap between what the Academy is going to reward and what audiences-out there want to see," Clark said. "That may or may not be a problem."

Clark's movie career has centered in most of the categories. Based on Lewis's inspiration as a director in his second Best Actor nomination of his career for playing a murderer and victim in

"Three Men in a Boat," ahead of fellow nominees that include George Clooney for "Michael Clayton" and Tommy Lee Jones for "The Contender."

"The U.S. President has been shot!"
All-star action-packed thriller solves assassination puzzle
The President of the United States is in South to deliver a major address on terrorism. He approaches the problem in a crowded square. Suddenly, the president is shot. The President is in the ground. Moments later, bombs explode.
In the hot new action-packed thriller, eight strangers with eight points of view try to piece together the case that led to an assassination attempt on the U.S. President.
Despite five credits as recent action sports, a new director, a new cast and other factors, the film is a surprise success in the genre to reveal the terrifying truth. All star cast includes (clockwise from top left) Matt Damon, George Clooney, Michael Moore and William Hurt.
Don't miss the explosive action.
